Alabama knows a thing or two about defense.

The 6th vessel to bear the name, the battleship USS Alabama served with distinction in the Pacific theater during World War II from November 1943 to October 1945.

Alabama has a long, proud history of standing up and fighting for what's right. So, at Medical Protective, we know that nothing but experience will do for the healthcare providers of Alabama. When it comes to your assets and your reputation—Medical Protective offers diligently strong protection. After all, Alabama physicians deserve nothing less.

Meet your Alabama defense team.

Armbrecht Jackson LLP – Mobile, AL

Our medical malpractice defense team has tried hundreds of cases to verdict over the past several decades. We have a strong track record of providing aggressive, successful defense against allegations of medical malpractice against hospitals, long term care facilities, doctors, nurses, pharmacists, dentists, chiropractors, and insurers as well as other individuals and companies. We practice in all jurisdictions and venues in the State of Alabama and in Mississippi.

Our medical malpractice defense team has defended numerous high profile matters involving complex allegations and multi-million dollar claims for wrongful death, serious personal injury, birth injury and nursing home neglect. We build solid cases and deliver an enviable percentage of favorable outcomes for the healthcare providers and insurers we serve.

In addition, our attorneys have often become valued, long-term educational resources for our healthcare industry clients throughout the region. We often hear from clients seeking advice long before allegations are even made. Our team has extensive experience defending healthcare providers in disciplinary actions, various state licensing boards, and regulatory agencies.

We recognize that all professionals shoulder tremendous responsibility and are vulnerable to allegations by clients who are displeased with the service or outcomes they receive, and we make it our point to use our experience, diligence and dedication in defending those professionals who have allegations leveled against them. Our success rate is enviable.

Ball, Ball, Matthews & Novak – Montgomery, AL

Parsons, Lee & Juliano – Birmingham, AL

Since its inception Parsons, Lee & Juliano has specialized in civil litigation. For over 30 years the firm has maintained a strong sub-specialty in medical malpractice and throughout that time has defended physicians, hospitals, pharmacists and other healthcare providers throughout the State of Alabama. The Firm's medical malpractice section is led by founding members, Jay Juliano and Mark Lee both of whom have been members of the American Board of Trial Advocates since 1985. At the time of their induction, ABOTA required that an attorney have tried at least 50 jury trials as lead counsel.

The Firm has successfully defended hundreds of medical malpractice cases through defense verdicts in jury trials, summary judgments or other dismissals on the merits of the case. Through the representation of medical providers for over 30 years, the Firm has developed invaluable resources and relationships with medical professionals who independently review cases in order to determine the merits, or lack thereof, of claims presented against healthcare providers, who are also available as potential expert witnesses. The Firm has access to the latest in medical research concerning the issues in controversy as well as state-of-the-art technology for presenting demonstrative evidence in the court room.
